“Working with people is a difficult job. Many times, I was asked by colleagues what I would recommend to help them in their career. I would say directly, the MDRT Center for Field Leadership. You can grow faster, and you can avoid making common mistakes when leading the people on your team.”

“The benefits of the MDRT Center for Field Leadership are in the connections and the content that allow you to grow personally and professionally. It’s that personal and professional growth that’s going to transform you as a leader, your agency production, advisor growth and advisor retention.”

Jason Staas, FCIF, M.S.
